

Techie Top Tip Tuesday: Backup Media Location

by ASL Computer Services

Keep your data backup media offsite. Backups can be a life saver if you lose or corrupt any of your business files. But it is vitally important to store the backup media in a different physical location to the live data.

If your data gets destroyed by theft, fire, or flood, any backup media in the same building will likely also be destroyed.

Make sure your backup media is taken offsite every day.
